A View of Manila. Manila is really composed of two cities located on each side of the Pasig River. The original Manila (on the left) is walled and fortified on all sides, and was laid out over 300 years ago, dating from 1571. Binondo, or new Manila, is the business center, and on the right of the river. Manila now has a population of some 300,000 inhabitants, and is one of the cleanest cities in the East.
